JAVA FULL STACK — CLIENT-SERVER ARCHITECTURE

Frontend ↔ Backend ↔ Database communication

Flow: User action → Frontend sends HTTP request → Backend processes business logic → Database query → Backend response → Frontend displays result.

Note: The frontend normally communicates with the backend API. The backend accesses the database; the browser does not normally connect directly to the database.